

Susan M. Lundsten

Susan M. Lundsten received a Bachelor of Science in Community Health Education from University of Wisconsin-La Crosse, 1991. She is currently employed as a Wellness Education Specialist in the Community and Preventive Care Services Department at Gundersen Lutheran Medical Center in LaCrosse, WI. She has been in this position for the last seven years.

Susan is the systems contact for Gundersen Lutheran for tobacco cessation. She is the coordinator of Gundersen Lutheran's Journey to Freedom Nicotine Cessation Clinic and Getting You Started to Stop Tobacco Educational Series. She is a member of Gundersen Lutheran Smoking Policy Task Force with primary focus on tobacco cessation resources and a member of 7 C's Health Initiative (regional coalition addressing tobacco policy), the Tobacco Dependence Treatment Team (state-wide group of the Tobacco Dependence and Control Committee, Division of Public Health).

James Engh

Jim Engh has been a Human Resources Operations Manager at Gundersen Lutheran Medical Center in LaCrosse WI since 1999. Jim has extensive HR Operations and HR generalist experience. He also has employee and labor relations experience in manufacturing and health care. Currently a member of several committees including the Gundersen Lutheran AODA Advisory Council. In this role he has been responsible for the HR aspects of the smoking policy task force and the policy implementation.